

Andrea James took pictures of my children off of my website and put captions that she claimed were similar to what I wrote in my book.

Let's replace women in my community with a couple of random photos and see if Bailey's words and theories seem as academic...

There are also kids like "Drew" who work as waiters, hairdressers, receptionists, strippers, and prostitutes, as well as in many other occupations.

"Kate": a cock-starved exhibitionist, or a paraphiliac who just gets off on the idea of it? We'll find out in 12 easy questions!

Later she writes jokingly about there being "two types of children in the Bailey household:" those sodomized by their father and those not sodomized.

Amazingly, she has accused me of copyright violation, after using my pictures of my children. She has evidently tried to hide any record of these actions, by removing these pages from her own page, as well as archives.com
